ROOSEVELT ELECTED BUT ONE TIME

(Ohio People Find Loophole in Third Term Bogey.)

There is but little enthusiasm for Taft and Fairbanks in their Native State.

NO ATTACHMENT FOR MR. TAFT

(By L. V. Amundson.)

Mr. Vernon O. Sept. 14.—The
cannot but be surprised at the lack of enthusiasm for Taft in Ohio. The people are opposed to the Taft propaganda, but they seem to have no interest in it. One comes here expecting to be asked immediately how Taft stands in his community. Instead he asks solicitously after the Taft boom, and is met with the nonchalant disinterested reply, "I don't know." That is the end of the conversation unless the visitor presses the inquiry further. They are interested in the Johnson-Burton case in Cleveland and the bid in Columbus and the latest sayings of J. B. Foraker, but they do not seem to care for the word
"Taft."

It is more surprising, because
these people have become accustomed to furnishing a president about every 16 years. "This was when the mention of McKinley's name brought a chiver. A word of disparagement of him was the preliminary to a case of assault and battery. When the sage of Canton died the Columbus Press-Post published an editorial on imperialism. Do you remember the word? and a posse of indignant sovereigns took the papers from the boys, smashed the press, destroyed
the forms and burned the issue and drove the editor into exile.

Foraker's name once was one to inspire with, and even the mention of Mark Hanna begot a smile of confident security, but little interest is accorded the Taft boom in his native
state, as yet.

Perhaps the reason is not far to seek. Taft has never been elected to a public office. There is no sentimental bond of attachment between the big secretary and the voters of his home state. He has performed prodigious feats of statescraft, to be sure,
but they reflect credit on the administration, of which he is only a detail. Even on here in the great west that stretches toward the setting sun
from Pittsburg and the Allegheny river, where the national government ever takes precedence over state alliance, men have bowels and sentiment, and a warm hand clasp in a hot campaign, a word pledged and redeemed counts for more than a Philippine policy.

"Who are you for?" persistence one presses the question.

Not Fairbanks. Odd, isn't it? He's another son of Ohio.

A thoughtful, searching look straight into your face that reminds one of looks he has met elsewhere, a careful weighing of thought, as if the one about to speak had to pause to reassure himself of the logic of a new born idea.

Then comes the inevitable reply in
measured tones:

"Roosevelt has never been elected
but once."

We hear the same thing in Kentucky and from visitors from other states. The desire of the people for another term of Roosevelt has found a loophole in the third term bogey.
No one is shouting Roosevelt from the house top, because Roosevelt himself seems to be for somebody else, but it only requires a safe tip to get Ohio as Roosevelt mad as she was when she gave him 255,000 plurality in 1901.

VERDICT OF $12,000 FOR PADUCAH WOMAN

Mr. W. R. Duke, the well known Illinois Central machinist, received a message this morning stating that his mother, Mrs. Lila Duke, had been given a verdict for $12,000 against the Rock Island railroad for the death of his father who was killed on that road December 17, 1906. Mr.
Duke was a brakeman on the railroad, and was killed while in discharge of his duties.

Since the death of her husband
Mrs. Duke has lived with her son here. She is in Arkansas now looking after her interests in the suit.

WOULD MAKE MURDER SECONDARY TO GRAFTING

Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 14.—
The death penalty for grafting
is the suggestion of Congressman Little, candidate for governor.
In an open letter he says, "If I had the supreme law-making power of this country, the only crime punishable with death
would be grafting. Murder would receive secondary consideration."

GLASS BLOWERS WILL NOT ORGANIZE

Manager Says Men are Well Paid and Satisfied With Conditions.

"The men will not organize a union," said Mr. Finley, of the glass plant today, when seen by a Sun reporter. "They and we look on the efforts of the brick masons and carpenters to organize them with disrespect, but the men will not go into a union, and we shall not employ union men. There is an understanding between us and the men. They were told when we brought them here that we should have a management plant, so expected nothing else."
It is true the local union has asked them for a conference and right to place before them the benefits of unionism. One speaker told them they should not work for less than $4 a day $2 for living expenses, and $1 for spending money, and when they found that none of the men will get less than $5 a day and some of them $15, they were discomfited.

There are 22 men in all in the glass blowers' crew and they are a community lot. Some of them hail from Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Australia and European countries, and all of them seem to be very well satisfied with Paducah.

Every thing is running smoothly at the plant and the management is enthusiastic over the indications for the success of the installation.

AGED FARMER ROBBED IN SECOND STREET SALOON

W. H. Jones, 72 years old, of near Thompson's Fork, struck Paducah yesterday with $45 in cash, his experience here while engaged in hiring cotton pickers. Today he is penurious, suffering from the effects of a bruised head and "jag," but is much the wiser. Thirty dollars of his roll are in the hands of the commonwealth and secured until Tom Vincent changed with relieving him of his cash, is convicted of grand larceny.

Jones "rolled up" a bit in saloons
before beginning soliciting cotton pickers. He is foreman of a plantation in Tennessee, and drifted down towards Second street to get among the negroes. He met Vincent in a second street saloon and while he was watching the glasses on the bar
do numerous tumbling feats, Vincent was alleged to have slipped his hand into the Tennesseean's pocket and relieve him of his money. Policemen found $30 of the money alleged to have been stolen in Vincent's pocket,
and he was held to the grand jury
this morning. Jones is at police headquarters waiting for circuit court to convict so that he can secure the release of his money.

THE WEATHER.

FAIR.

Generally fair tonight and Sunday.
Not much change in the weather.
Highest temperature yesterday, 86;
lowest today, 69.

SMALL DECREASE IN BANK CLEARINGS

First Week in Year Showing Falling off.

Large Amount of Money Was Being Spent in the City for Public Improvements.

WHOLESALE TRADE IS GOOD.

Clearings this week, $740,185
Last year, same week, 760,250
Decrease, 20,065

The bank clearings this week show a decrease of over $25,000 over the same week last year. This is one of the few weeks this year, however,
that the clearings have shown a falling off. It is but in keeping with the slight decrease going on over the country generally, and local bankers say we may look for several more such weeks.

Students of finance and business generally recognize the reaction in business, and the public, always the last to grasp such things, will begin to see it shortly. The price of copper has already collapsed, and 10,000 miners are out of work at this time due to a closing of the mines as a consequence, and if they are opened again soon it will be at a reduced wage scale for the miners.

The same conditions is anticipated

In all lines of mining and manufacture, but how long it will obtain is the question of interest just now.

Conditions in Paducah appear to be very healthy, but there is not the money being spent for improvements,
nor in wages there was a year ago.
And while it is true we have lost
such plants as the Furniture company,
the Reikopf and Paducah Saddlery plants, Rigglesberger's and a few others, other plants have added to their forces and new industries like the Lack Malleable Iron Co., and the glass plant have begun operation with good size crews and paying liberal wages.

Retail trade is experiencing the dullness incident to the between seasons period. There is some fall buying in all lines, and every cool day gives added impetus to it. Local wholesale houses, the dry goods, drugs, harness, clothing, report a very satisfactory season to date.

STEAMBOATMAN KILLED BY FALL FROM INCLINE.

Edward Bole, steward of the towboat Sprague of the Pittsburg Coal company's fleet, was found lying dead under the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley lines tracks at Helena, Ark., at an early hour Friday morning. It is supposed that Bole was killed by a fall from the incline tracks to the ground below, and there is no reason to presume that he met with foul play.

Leave for West.

Mr. R. Downs and Mr. Charles C.
Moore, of Murray, left this morning for Goldfield, Nevada, and other points in the west. Mr. Downs has extensive mining interests in Nevada and California.

DYNAMITE DESTROYS NEWSPAPER PLANT

Joplin Daily Had Led Crusade Against Police.

Had Been Fearless in Denouncing Crime and Graft in Police Department and City Council.

THE NEW PRESS WAS WRECKED.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 14.—Dynamite last night at 11 o'clock wrecked the press room and composition rooms of the News-Herald, an afternoon Republican newspaper, which has been conducting a crusade against the methods of the city council and police department. Every window in the building, which is situated at Fourth and Joplin streets, in the heart of the business district, was broken, and the new Goss perfecting press, and four linotype machines were destroyed. Several thousand people were attracted to the scene and it was soon found that no one was in the building when the explosion occurred. Three sticks of dynamite exploded beneath the press and two sticks of explosive destroyed the typesetting machines. Two sticks placed near the press and two near the linotypes, did not explode. The News-Herald is owned by P. E. Burton and J. P.
Farrish.

Prominent Speakers From Home and Abroad Will Address Immigration and Good Roads Convention.

The arrangements committee for the immigration convention, have almost completed plans for the program for the immigration and good roads convention to be held in Paducah
the 26th and 27th.

Hon. Terrence V. Powderly, chief of the division of commerce and labor, of the bureau of immigration and naturalization, Washington, D.
C., has accepted the association's invitation, and will deliver the principal address on the morning of the 26th.

Mr. Powderly will handle the subject of immigration, its importance and possibilities and the relationship of high class immigration will bear to local conditions. Every farmer and business man in western Kentucky
and especially Paducah and western Kentucky, who may have any doubts in regard to the feasibility of promoting immigration for this section, should attend the convention on the 26th and hear this problem discussed by Mr.
Powderly.

Hon. J. F. Merry, of Manchester,
Iowa, will handle the subject of diversified farming and incidentally immigration, as applied to local conditions. Mr. Merry is a gentleman of wide experience and his address will be of great interest to every farmer, as well as the business man. No one interested in the development of western Kentucky, can afford to miss this address.

Judge R. T. Lightfoot will be one of the principal speakers on the subject of good roads. Thousands of our citizens in western Kentucky who know Judge Lightfoot, will certainly understand that they will miss a great treat if they fail to hear the judge on this occasion, on the subject that is of such vital importance to the development of western Kentucky.

Mr. Charles N. Wilson, president of the American Engineering company, Indianapolis, Ind., will address the convention on the second day in regard to interurban lines, their value to the development of any community, business man in western Kentucky
and especially Paducah and western Kentucky.

Rabbi Meir Lovitch will be one of the speakers for the second day of the 27th, and his subject will be "Paducah, Past, Present and Future." This able divine, who has gained a great reputation for oratory and ability since he came to Paducah to make this his home, will handle
the subject assigned him in a way that will especially interest the populist, and those who some times feel discouraged with what may seem times seem to be discouraging conditions, after hearing the rabbi's address will take on new courage, vim

and energy, for a greater Paducah
and western Kentucky.

Hon. Charles K. Wheeler, one of the most forceful and entertaining speakers in Kentucky, will address the convention on the second day on immigration and its advantages and importance to this section of the state. It is especially desired that those who do not fully understand what the immigration association is striving for in advocating the bringing in of a desirable class of immigrants to settle on our vacant lands in western Kentucky, be present and hear Mr. Wheeler's address.

Hon. Hubert Vreeland will address the convention on the second day on a subject yet to be chosen, of special interest to the farming community.

Hon. E. B. Johnson, road superintendent for McCracken county, will deliver an address on good roads,
how to get them, what has been accomplished in McCracken county and suggestions for highways for western Kentucky. Mr. Johnson has made this subject a deep and successful study and the farmers will be especially interested in his address.

Other speakers of prominence will be present and every moment of the convention will be crowded with able

PROSPERITY IS THE PARAMOUNT ISSUE

Indianapolis, Sept. 14.—Vice-President Fairbanks in an interview with a United Press correspondent, today said: "Public officials from the president down should keep in touch with the great mass of the people.
The highest interests of the American people are common interests. The interest of labor in making our welfare is greater than that of capital. The man is dull, indeed, who believes that the winking up of the people to their rights, or wrongs, can be smothered. No one can rightfully repudiate President Roosevelt for his prompt enforcement of the laws. Prosperity is the paramount issue. There is always enough hard times to go around."

talks on subjects of vital importance to the future growth and development of western Kentucky and Paducah.

This convention should be made
one of the most important ever held in western Kentucky and every citizen and business man in this section of the state should make it a point
to attend both days of the convention.

Announcement will be made next week of the place where the convention will be held. The indications are that such crowds will be present that it will be necessary to hold the convention at the Chautauqua building at Wallace park, weather permitting.

FARMER IS FOUND DEAD IN FIELD

Mayfield, Ky., Sept. 14.—Jim Harrison, a well known farmer of near Backsburg, while at work in his tobacco field very suddenly heart failure occasioned by heat is the supposed cause of his death. He formerly lived in the Panther creek section and was well known in Mayfield.

Big Meeting of Colored Voters.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds met at the colored Odd Fellows' Hall last night.
Some of the leading members of the race made very interesting talks touching political issues. Under the leadership of R. C. McClure, with the assistance of the members, this club promises to be the largest that has ever been organized in the city.

LITTLEVILLE CITIZEN MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING

Who, and where is Al Farley?

This question is bothering members of Paducah's police force and residents of Littleville. Saturday one week ago today, a stranger, appearing to be out of his wits, appeared in Littleville near the Illinois Central depot, and left his coat at a grocery. He went down the railroad and has never shown up since. Moved by curiosity, the coat was investigated by those with whom it was left in charge, and a few letters addressed to Al Farley were found in one pocket, and a bloody handkerchief in the other. Letters indicate that the owner of the coat has a brother in Dawson. The matter was reported to the police today and an investigation is being made. Farley never returned for the garment.

FAST HORSES ENTERED FROM ILLINOIS TOWNS

Mr. G. C. Harris returned today from Kankakee, Ill., where he went to interest some horsemen racing
there in the Paducah meet, and brought back 22 entries for the harness races. Every horse is a speedy one, and some have records below 2:06. Mr. Harris will leave Monday for Sullivan, Ind., and Marion, Ill., to secure more entries.

With the horses entered now, the association has the greatest number of entries that ever participated in a race meet here, and the horses secured are much faster than any ever raced in Paducah. Following are some of the entries:

Billy Bryan, George Washington,
Kentucky Colonel, Corla, George W., Ivadeue, Minnie Dickson, Reelfoot, Oda G., Sunday Piper, Ojibway, Pre-tatie, Rencaker Hoy, Miss Belle Rolinson, Raymore, Charley Werth, Walker W., Highwood, Jr., Harry C., Jr., Ina Madison, Pinewood, Miss Merigold.

GOOD INCREASE IN ENROLLMENT

Shown in First Week's Report of Schools.

Many New Scholars Are Expected to Enter During First Four Weeks of the Session.

SUPERINTENDENT IS PLEASED.

Reports compiled by Supt. John Carnagey from figures supplied by principals of city schools yesterday afternoon show a total enrollment in city schools for the first week of 90
white pupils increase over enrollment for 1906 for the same period, and 31 decrease in colored pupils, but still pupils are being entered.

"I expect a great many more pupils to come in for several weeks yet," stated Supt. Carnagey "and am more than pleased with the outlook. Teachers are taking hold of the work with a will, and we are getting excellent results even during the first week.
Confusion, of course, characterized the first week, but we will have steady work from Monday."

the class in history and civics. Supt.
Carnagey will place before the school board the necessity of an additional teacher in the High school. Three applicants have filed formal applications and will be considered for the position. One is from Kentucky, another from Indiana, and a third from

PADUCAH BOYS DID NOT ENTER COLLEGE

David Yeiser and Bell Nichols, the two high school graduates who left this week to enter the State College at Lexington, have decided not to enter the school and will be home in a few days. The young men expected to enter the Sophomore class on the certificates they received from the local school, but the authorities
wanted to enter them in the Freshmen class, and the boys rebelled.
They covered the Freshman course in their studies here and should have been entitled to enter the Sophomore class, as the other boys who have gone to the college from here have done so, in other years. Brent Janes and Robert Hanley, who also went to Lexington at the same time, have not decided yet what they will do, but it is probable they too will return.

CORN AVALANCHE SLOWLY CHOKES MAN TO DEATH.

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 14.—Slowly smothered to death by 1200 bushels of shelled corn hurled down in an avalanche by a bursting partition, Wilbur Barrett, his cries for aid unheard, fought vainly against the rising tide of grain which slowly mounted from his waist to his neck, finally to sweep over his head.

Barrett was employed in a local grain elevator, having recently come from Buda, Ill.

LADY NEVER KNEW WHOM SHE MET AT PRELATE'S DOOR

But She Got Her Audience Promptly With Archbishop Gleason, Who Summoned Himself.

An amusing story of the wit of Archbishop Gleason, and his ability to turn an embarrassing situation into good humor is being told in Catholic circles. According to the story, an elderly lady who never before had called on any prelate of the church, found it necessary to take some business matters into the presence of the archbishop. She wended her way to his residence with some inward trepidation as to the proper amount of ceremony necessary, after the maid, and possibly a secretary, as she imagined, should have neatly ushered her into the august presence of the metropolitan.

It happened that day that as she rang the doorbell the archbishop was himself in the hall, and he opened the door with a word of friendly greeting to the stranger, and a desire to know whom she wished to see.

"I want to see the bishop," she replied, if it be that he has no other engagement at this time.

Seeing her timidity and her downcast eyes, oblivious to the pastoral cases by which she might have drawn the archbishop's attention, the archbishop gently replied: "Yes, madam, you wish to see the bishop. Would you at the door do as well?"

"Oh, yes," was the grateful reply. "Well then," came the archbishop's quick reply, "I'll look around and see if I can't get the archbishop to see you."

After a few moments, when the good lady had recovered her self-possession, the real archbishop appeared on the scene. The audience was a very satisfactory one, and the lady went her way, praising both the archbishop and "the kind gentleman" whom she had met at the door, never realizing that the two were one.

Following his custom, the judge asked of the defendant, a burly, bow-browed scoundrel who had murdered a poor old couple to rob them: "Defendant, have you anything to say?" In a cheerful tone the other replied: "Just a word, I am opposed to capital punishment."

Archaeologists have discovered the marble quarries which supplied the material for the famous Temple of Hiram of the Ephesians.

The Week In Society.

CANDY—CUPID.

Now where are your sharp-barbed arrows, my boy?

And your quiver? Say, where did they go?

For 'tis said when you shoot that you pillage and loot,

And you lacerate hearts with your bow.

Ah! Cupid, don't worry, your arrow is gone.

And see now a stick plays its part. But your aim is still true.

A sharpshooter you.

And you've driven straight into my heart.

—Jean C. Havez.

September Days.

It is in September that the "melancholy days" of social life are more in evidence perhaps than at any other season. November, drier and grey as it is without, giving the poet license to name it so, is yet gay and glowing within; but just now we are neither one thing or the other. The peculiar pleasure of summer are not ours, or the gayeties of the autumn. However, this week has been an off-week for September in that several distinctively pretty parties diversified it.

Perhaps, the tinkle of the horse show in the air has rather annoyed one's social instincts before the October club awakening and has started things going a little more merrily than usual.

Golf Today.

Golf is a popular feature of amusement now. "Ladies' Day" on the golf links has been rather a novelty so far, but it is possible that the cooler days of autumn may induce many to take advantage of the men's gallantry and Saturday afternoon will become ladies' day in earnest. The golf fever was so palpably long in getting to Paducah and it is no evidence now. It has a sure foothold, though, and has met the athletic need of a number of business and professional men too satisfactorily to ever lose out again. Some few of the women have begun to take it up and others expect to begin when the weather becomes cool to stay, so there is good prospect for this sport to have many devotees in Paducah and to become a popular here as it is in other cities. The small hole has found a profitable pastime this summer and it has his unbounded approval. The usual golf matches are being played this afternoon.

D. A. B. Chapter.

The Paducah chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will have a very complete year book this year with the program in full. It is now being printed. The first meeting of the chapter for the year will be with Mr. Edgar Caldwell, 735 Broadway, on the first Friday in October.

Mrs. Vork Entertains for Miss Childress.

Mrs. Victor Vork telephoned her unmarried list to "come and have Chinese brewing" with her at five o'clock on Tuesday afternoon to meet Miss Minnie Childress, a charming blonde debutante from Dallas, Tex., a particular friend of Mrs. Vork's. The occasion was one of that especial charm and informality that marks all of Mrs. Vork's decidedly smart entertainments.

The clever hostess took the cue for her decorations from the "Lone Star State," her honor guest's adopted and her own native state, and floral stars were everywhere in evidence throughout the artistic rooms. The "five points of the star" was further perfectly emphasized in the receiving groups of five in the different rooms.

With Mrs. Vork in the reception room were Miss Childress and Mr. Edwin J. Paxton, while Dr. Vork and Miss Faith Langstaff received the guests in the hall opening just out. In the red room were Mr. Wallace Well and an attractive bunch of girls, with hats off: Misses Quarles, of Idaho; Lila Reed, Ethel Morrow and Marjorie Scott. The dining room was particularly effective with the green furniture, green and chrome walls and beams. The table was encircled by a lace cover on which rested a huge floral star of white asters with the center a live-pronged candelabra burning green candles. A large green hanging vase from the chandelier overhead was filled with white rosebuds, a subtle compliment to the pretty debutante guest of honor.

Effectively outlining the table and center-piece were polished magnolia leaves from Mrs. Vork's home in Texas. Star-shaped sandwiches tied with green ribbons were among the attractive features of the luncheon, while a pretty mound of minted grapes in molds was served from five pretty bonbonnières. A salad course in green and white, and green and white mints gave dainty touches of the color-motif. Miss Anna Webb sat at the tea table and was assisted by Misses Manie Cobb, Ethel Brooks, Philippa Hughes, Anita Kiler.

Some 75 cards were left during the hour. Several young men dropped in at 6 o'clock to what the hostess called a "modest tea-pouring" and added a jolly finish to the delightful occasion.

"Country Party" at The Angles.

Mrs. George Langstaff, Jr., was the hostess of an attractive entertainment on Tuesday morning at "The Angles," the home of her parents, Col. and Mrs. Q. Q. Quigley, in Arcadia. The guests were hidden to a "Country Party" and the idea was delightfully carried out by some novel features. The charming old-time home was prettily decorated in old-fashioned roses. Tables were arranged for euchre with the lally cards of corn shucks tied with corn silk. The first prize was a basket of home-grown "scaly barks" and was captured by Mrs. Linneaus Orme. The third prize, a pound of butter, went to Mrs. John K. Hendrick. The luncheon served at the close of the games was in keeping with the beautiful charm and jollity of the occasion.

The guests were: Mesdames R. G. Torrell, L. D. Wilcox, Ben Welle, D. G. Marshall, George Hughes, Louis Rice, John K. Hendrick, James A. Rind, Sallie Morrow, Frank Scott, Hal Corbett, W. R. McPherson, Charles Richardson, W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., John W. Keller, James F. Smith, M. B. Nash, L. W. Emery, W. J. Hills, Victor Vork, Robert Reeves, David Flournoy, Florence Moquin, W. A. Gardner, George Flournoy, Thomas Boswell, Mueson Burnett, Lawrence Ballam, Thomas C. Leeb, Misses Claribel Riecke, Carlisle Riecke, Anna Webb, Birdie Woolfolk, Corne Grundy, Alice Compton, Ethel Morrow, Joe Rounnell, Mary Kerr, Dyerburg, Tenn.; Mamie Nobles, Minnie Ratcliffe.

Informal Card Party for Visitor.

A pretty harbinger of the autumn was Mrs. John W. Little's informal afternoon at cards on Thursday at her home on West Jefferson street, in honor of her guest, Mrs. George Jeter, of Dresden, Tenn. Red and yellow was the color-motif, canna in these colors being effectively used throughout the rooms. The autumn thus was, also, carried out in the salad and ice courses of the luncheon. The card prize was taken by Mrs. Peter Puryear in a cut with Mrs. Luke Russell. Mrs. Victor Vork and Mrs. Hubbard S. Wells tied for the lone-hand prize, which went to Mrs. Vork. These were three tables of guests.

An Enjoyable Affair.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Watts, of West Tumble street, entertained the officers and their families last evening, of local No. 559, with a delightful social in honor of Mr. J. W. Adams, of St. Louis, general organizer of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. Those who participated were: Mr. J. W. Adams, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Arts, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morgan and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hamby, Miss May Watts, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reavis and children, Mr. Allison Watts, Mrs. J. W. Maguire, Miss Hester L. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Watts. Music was a delightful feature of the evening. Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock.

Pleasant Social.

The Spirit Shakedown social given by the Christian Endeavor society of the Kentucky avenue Presbyterian church on Thursday evening in the Endeavor room of the church was a pleasant occasion and was largely attended. Games and refreshments were enjoyed.

Woman's Club Work.

The executive board of the Woman's club met on Wednesday morning with the president, Mrs. James A. Rudy, 629 Kentucky avenue. A large amount of routine business was considered. The Woman's club house will be formally opened on the evening of September 23, with a reception. The invitations to be issued at once. The first regular meeting of the club will be held on October 3, at the club house, under the auspices of the literary department, of which Mrs. Mueson Burnett is chairman. The year book is now in course of preparation and will be full of club data.

The civic department of the club held an important business meeting on Friday morning with the chairman, Miss Adine Morton, 612 Broadway. This department has set apart September 20 and 21 as fall-cleaning days for a "city beautiful." In preparation for Horse Show week. It is especially desired that all the weeds will be cut down in yards, vacant lots and on streets, and the city generally cleaned on those days. The mayor has cordially endorsed the move with a proclamation and the board of health is in hearty sympathy with it. Every citizen with any pride or patriotism should give a hearty co-operation to the Woman's club in their earnest effort for a "city beautiful."

An American Stage Beauty Newbro's Herpicide

Saved Her Hair With

She Writes as Follows to the Herpicide Co.:

"For the past two years I played a part that necessitated the wearing of a wig. My scalp would perspire under the wig and it was not long until dandruff made its appearance and constantly grew worse. I used every remedy I could find to rid my head of it, but all to no avail. I finally decided to give Newbro's Herpicide a thorough trial.

"I cleaned and dried my hair before applying Herpicide and after three or four applications I was delighted to see the dandruff disappear and my hair is now as nice as ever.

"I could not be without Herpicide and I can recommend it most highly and believe it will do all that is claimed for it." Respectfully,

PLEASANT MEMORIES

OF THE FIRST CIRCUS PARADE YOU ATTENDED.

Glitter and Tinsel and Sound of Music Thrills the Small Boy and the Older Ones, Too.

Can words describe the sensation you experienced when you beheld for the first time in your life a circus parade? Probably not. Most of us were in arms and too young to become thoroughly interested. But a little later in life, when you were old enough to walk and could understand the names of things and could distinguish between a brass band and a steam whistle, or a dump cart and a gold chariot—it was at that age that you really saw your first circus parade, for that age is probably as far back as your memory can carry you.

It was about this time that circus day took precedence over every holiday on your calendar. You looked forward to the Fourth of July, you looked forward to the ten weeks' summer vacation from school, and Thanksgiving and Christmas were on your list, but the circus led the procession and trotted in a class all by itself. You recall how the first advance car, arrived in town, then the pictures on the billboards, then another advance car and later the lithographs in the store windows. From board in anticipation of the circus. You began to save your money. You were good to your mother. You ran errands without complaint and begged to be asked to run more. You never erred, you were never cross, and you went to bed early for weeks without registering the semblance of a yawn. How you did buckle into that woodpile! But those are memories of the past. The day of days dawned when the circus arrived. When you were very young you arose at 3 p. m., after a sleepless night with big brother or father wended your way to the place of unloading. A little later in life you did not go to bed, but sat up all night before circus day, which was the longest night of the year.

After the first number on the day's program—the unloading of the show—came a short intermission. Then the parade. You stood on the sidewalk, the curbstone or in a doorway, or perhaps you were perched in a tree on a lamp post. How you did stretch the cords of your neck looking for that first chariot with the band! And how you imagined, every three minutes, that you heard the band, and would look again in the direction from which the parade was to come. Then it did come. First the big looking-glass chariot with the band on top. Then some more gold chariots, drawn by four, six or eight horses. Then some cages with animals and more wagons and more cages. Then some riders on horseback and another band. Finally the lumbering elephants, preceded by the man on horseback who shouted "Hold your horses!"

Well, that was your first circus parade. That was the first real circus thrill that tingled the blood in your veins. From that time on you had the fever and circus day became the star day of the year on your engagement book. Circuses have changed since those days and parades have changed. Year by year have been added feats of greater daring, year by year they have become better, larger and more gorgeous, acts of greater merit, artists of greater ability. The Carl Hagenbeck and Great Wallace Shows Combined present this year a superlative pageant that is superbly stupendous. Not only in this direction do they excel all previous efforts, but the performance itself is given by the greatest aggregation of artistic talent that money can hire.

On Monday, September 16, the Hagenbeck and Wallace Combined Shows will exhibit in Paducah. Then a hurrah! for the real circus sport.

JUSTIFIABLY SKEPTICAL.

"In the heat of a state campaign and badly in need of ammunition, the Democratic leaders of Kentucky are making various offers of immunity to W. S. Taylor if he will return to the state to appear as a witness in the fourth trial of Caleb Powers," says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "Mr. Taylor doubts the sincerity of these propositions and has ample reason for his opinion in his past treatment by the same men, or others like them. In November, 1899, Taylor, the Republican nominee, was elected governor of Kentucky by a vote of 193,714 to 191,331. All the returning boards, including the state board, composed of a majority of Democrats declared that Taylor had been elected and he was duly inaugurated. But the legislature proceeded, under the leadership of State Senator William Goebel, and an infamous law he contrived, to declare that Goebel was entitled to the office of governor. Goebel was assassinated January 30, 1900, by some one (never yet identified) who fired from a window in the state house. Goebel was sworn in on his deathbed January 31, and died three days later.

"Five men were indicted as principals in the murder, and the alleged accessories indicted were Caleb Powers and four others. Later an indictment was found against Gov. Taylor, but he had gone to Indiana, where he has since resided, the governor of Indiana refusing to surrender him on the ground that he could not get a fair trial in Kentucky. What has he to hope for from the party gang that robbed him of the office to which he was elected and forced him to seek safety in another state? Powers' case is a sufficient answer. Powers has been in jail seven years and is yet to be finally tried. He has been placed in jeopardy of his life before juries made up entirely of Democrats. He is practically serving an unlimited sentence without a trial. Taylor would fare no better if not worse. He would be a plaything for the Democratic politicians who are trying to carry Kentucky in next November's election. The Goebel prosecutions have been a partisan juggle from the first, and that is all they will ever amount to as long as the men at the head of Kentucky's government are disciples of Goebel, and tainted with his theory that an honest ballot can be thrown aside for the benefit of a state ring."

WANTS JUDGE TO TRY CASE.

Here is a letter that Circuit Judge W. M. Reed received from a prisoner and which he will doubtless frame and keep:

County Jail, Paducah.

Dear Judge:—Can I arrange to get a trial by you. I am not guilty, but I am afraid the jury will stick it to me, seeing how hard it has been on the boys since court commenced. Yours truly, CHARLES GAINES.

Gaines got it "stuck to him" all right, for seven years in prison for robbery.

HARRIMAN AND HILL, NOT RIVALS, WALK ARM IN ARM.

New York, Sept. 14.—Wall street was interested today in a detailed account, circulated in the street, of the way in which E. H. Harriman and James J. Hill, rivals in the Western railroad field, walked arm in arm down Pine street from Nassau street to William street, accompanied by George F. Baker, president of the First National bank, and Otto H. Kahn. It appears that they met casually at the entrance to the Equitable building.

MAY BE ORDERED

By I. C. Officials After Annual Inspection.

Which Will Be Made Soon After the Annual Meeting of Stockholders Comes to a Close.

MANY CHANGES ARE REMOVED

Following immediately after the annual meeting of directors and stockholders of the Illinois Central at Chicago October 16, will come the annual inspection of the road by division superintendents and higher officials, and the result will be authority for numerous improvements, of which the Louisville division will come in a big part.

Special attention is being directed towards the south, where a congestion of freight traffic has been conspicuous since the Illinois Central invaded Nashville. It is stated that within the past three years business from the south on the Illinois Central has increased fully 25 per cent, and between Paducah and Princeton, where much freight via Nashville is handled, several hills impede traffic. Two years ago talk of cutting down hills on Paducah district was indulged in, but never materialized. It is stated that such improvements are imperative, and will be performed within another year.

Rumors of changes in superintendents on southern divisions have again begun to float about, but no credence is given them. The report that Superintendent Egan, because of his success in six years service on the Louisville division, the hardest on the system to handle, is to be given another division, is denounced as false. The fact that the popular official has handled the division better than any predecessor, is argument that he will be retained.

"Who will be master mechanic?" is still hithering local employees of the road. Mr. R. E. Fulmer, who resigned more than a week ago from the position, returned last night from Louisville, but could give out nothing definite as to who will be his successor. He is waiting to be relieved, and it is stated by Monday a successor will be here.

PEEPLES HELD.

Charged With Stealing Pair of Shoes From Mails.

Mack Peeples, colored, employed to haul mail from the depot to the postoffice at Fulton, was held over yesterday afternoon by Commissioner W. A. Gardner here for robbing the mails. He is alleged to have taken a pair of shoes sent through the mail. The shoes were recovered from a negro woman who claims that Peeples gave them to her.

INCREASED PAY

Will Soon Make Army Life More Attractive.

Enlisted Men Will Receive $18 Per Month With Good Chance of Improvement.

Sergeant Blake had two recruits for Captain Wm. L. Reeves, commander of the Evansville recruiting office, to swear in today. Claude Wood, of Kansas, Ky., and Wm. Gaines, of Unionville, Ill. The men were sent to the Jefferson barracks, St. Louis, and Captain Reeves left for Cairo, where he has three recruits. "We expect to greatly increase our number of recruits," said Sergeant Blake, today. "We expect congress will increase the pay of the soldier about 35 per cent, and this will make it a great deal more attractive. As it is, every branch complains of its inability to enlist any desirable men on account of the poor pay. The big men of the army have recommended an increase of 40 to 50 per cent, but I do not look for more than a 35 per cent. increase. With this increase, new men would receive $18 a month, on enlistment, and in three or four years could work up to $75, which, considering the fact that they receive free board and clothing, is a good inducement for a higher order of men."

SOUND LOGIC.

August and September are two months when one has to be very careful about every condition that makes for good, or bad health. The system is usually beginning to feel the strain of the hot summer months and the different organs need but very little to throw them into complete disorder and result in probably a fatal illness.

Good health is assured however if you heed nature's gentle warnings, and are in any measure discreet.

The usual summer disorders—malaria, general worn-out, and run down, conditions, biliousness, stomach and bowel disorders of all kinds, chronic or acute headaches yield readily, and very quickly, to the Osteopathic treatment, and have no attending ill effects. Usually you are as ill from the customary medical prescriptions as from the illness, but, in Osteopathy you experience none of this. Let me tell you at any time of the great success I am having with the treatment in Paducah. I shall refer you to people you know well for the evidence, and who will tell you just what it has done for them.

ALL TRADES WILL BE ORGANIZED

If Plans of Local Labor Leaders Materialize.

To Make Paducah Strongest Organized Town in Country Intended by Organizers.

TODAY THE TRADES ALLIANCE

To make Paducah the most thoroughly organized union town of its size in the United States, is the object of organizers in Paducah, and great activity to effect an immediate realization of this end is in evidence. Meetings have been held this week for the purpose of temporary organization, and next week they will be continued.

Trades Alliance To Organize.
 Tonight at Central Labor Union Hall a building trades union alliance will be organized. At a meeting last Saturday night each union took the matter under advisement and appointed delegates to appear tonight with authority for organization. Unions which will be represented are: Brick masons, hod carriers, mortar mixers, carpenters, plasterers, roofers, plumbers, and lathers, who are yet to be organized. This will necessitate the enlistment of "downtown tanners" who have not been in a union for two years.

Other Unions To Form.
 This week meetings of glass blowers, tailors, and several other trades were held to discuss organization into a union. It is stated on good authority that potters employed at the pottery and cement workers will be organized. Tailors will organize next week, having held a preliminary meeting last night, and following in line will come lathers, teamsters and all other trades possible to organize. "We hope to organize Paducah so thoroughly that everything will bear a union label," stated a prominent union organizer this morning. "Paducah already has the name of being one of the most thoroughly organized small towns in the country, but we want to make it more so. There are several trades we have our eye on which we have interested in organizing, and before this year is over, it is safe to predict that few non-union men will be employed in the city."

PAYS IN PENNIES THE PIANO.
 Missouri Woman's $125 in Copper Cents Will Be Used As Ad.

A piano sale was made at Blue Rapids recently which was somewhat peculiar. Mrs. E. R. Reed, wife of a restaurant keeper of Blue Rapids, bought a piano for $125, says the Kansas City Journal. The first payment was $125, which she made all in copper cent. Twelve thousand five hundred cents weigh more than one hundred and four pounds troy. The salesman who made this deal placed the money in a large double compartment grip and took it to St. Joseph, where the pennies will be stored, with a history of the transaction as an advertisement.

Six years ago Mrs. Reed commenced saving cents while living on a farm. Every copper she got held of from the sale of butter, eggs, poultry and other produce she put away. After the family moved to Blue Rapids and engaged in the bakery-restaurant business the opportunity for accumulating pennies was somewhat better, and a short time ago she felt able to invest in a piano.

Alderman Palmer Will Be Mayor.

Monday Paducah will have a Republican mayor, Alderman Earl Palmer, who by virtue of his office becomes mayor in the absence of the regular incumbent. Mayor Yelver will leave Monday for Jamestown to attend the annual convention of the American League of Municipalities. Alderman Palmer stated that he did not know exactly what he would do while occupying the chief executive's chair, but would be "loaded" when he did assume the authority of mayor.

Executive Committee in Session.

Committeemen from precincts in McCracken county are meeting this afternoon for the purpose of electing a county chairman for the Dark Tobacco Growers' association, who by virtue of his office, is a member of the executive board which fixes a scale of prices. The present incumbent, Mr. John T. Morton, is not a candidate for re-election. Candidates who have announced for the office are S. Childers, of Milan School House; John McCade, Ragland, and John Yarbrough, Florence Station.

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

Through the blood, diseases are carried from one generation to another. Parents transmit them to their children, and so it goes on down the family line for years and years unless the taint is removed from the blood. Especially is this true of Scrofula, for it is a disease that is "bred in the bone," and unless the blood is purified and every trace of the trouble removed the miserable disease will finally undermine the entire health and wreck the life of its victim. The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands or tumors about the neck, which often burst and become discharging ulcers, weak eyes, Catarrh of the head and throat, skin diseases, etc. The trouble being so firmly entrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, while a waxy, pallid appearance of the skin, loss of strength and energy, and often lung infections, show that the disease is entirely destroying the bright red corpuscles and rich, nutritive qualities of the blood. Scrofula being a constitutional disease, one affecting the entire circulation, must be treated with a remedy that builds up and strengthens every part of the system, which has so long been denied the strength and nourishment it should have received from the blood. S. S. S. is the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, and is therefore the ideal remedy for Scrofula. S. S. S. searches out and destroys all germs, taints and poisons, gives strength, richness and vigor to the blood and cures Scrofula permanently. It so thoroughly removes the trouble from the blood that no sign of it is ever seen again, and posterity is started out in life with a clean, pure blood supply, which is their rightful inheritance. S. S. S. while thorough, is gentle in its action, and the healing vegetable ingredients which compose it build up every part of the system. Look on the blood and medical advice free. ## DELIVERED GOODS TO BOTH SIDES

Head Haley's Letter to Judge Lassing.

Beckham's Stand for Temperance Was to "Keep Country People in Line."

HINES LED WHISKY FORCES.

Morehead, Ky., Sept. 14.—Augustus E. Willson, the Republican nominee for governor, made a stinging reply here Thursday to the charges of Governor Beckham and Auditor Hager in their recent public speeches that he was a dodger and a "straddler" of the temperance question. This is a strong local option county and Mr. Willson took great pains to clearly explain his attitude and that the Republican party on the important temperance issue. His talk was straight from the shoulder and he left no room for misinterpretation or doubt as to the Republican platform on the question. He showed conclusively that the leaders of the state machine had resorted to subterfuges and trickery in attempting to make the voters believe that they were responsible for temperance legislation. The machine's bluff was called in no uncertain fashion and its hand shown the voters, who had no difficulty in observing that the Democratic machine leaders are attempting to "play the game both ways."

Mr. Willson said in part: "I wish to cite against these present claims of devotion to temperance a few material facts known to all the people which will settle the question as to whether they are sincere."

"Senator Cammack introduced the local option law which extended to all counties and it was referred to the committee, and in spite of the pretended zeal of the governor and auditor, who in most matters had absolute control of their party in the legislature, the Cammack bill was pigeon-holed in the committee until the rising storm compelled the committee to report on it."

Did Nothing For It.
"Neither the governor or the auditor pretend to have ever asked any one to do anything to have it reported as they would have done, buying the power they did, if they sincerely wished any such legislation. The Rev. Mr. McLachlan, in his open letter to Auditor Hager, stated that he had seen the saloon keepers' association check for $3,500 collected by Mr. Hager for the Democratic campaign fund, and that he was informed that Mr. Hager had promised the man who gave him the check to protect the saloon men and resist the county salt bill and that Governor Beckham in the Louisville and Nashville station in Louisville, had confirmed the promise."

"These statements have been denied, but the failure to ask anybody to try to have the Cammack bill reported is stronger than the denial."

That Saloon Check.
"The Republicans in the legislature in a caucus, by unanimous vote, made the Cammack bill a party measure and when at last, after every effort to suppress the bill, a report was made by the committee, the Democrats, instead of reporting the Cammack bill, reported what was called in the legislature and the newspapers, the compromise bill, and the compromise at that time was understood in the legislature and everywhere else to be a compromise between the men demanding the Cammack bill, among whom no one charged Governor Beckham or Auditor Hager, and the people opposed to the Cammack bill and any county salt law, among whom everybody charged Governor Beckham and Auditor Hager, and this classification had received the strongest corroboration in the Decher check, and in the well known fact that in every election and primary the state administration had levied on the saloon interests for enormous campaign contributions in which the $3,500 check was a very small item."

"It is well known that Governor Beckham levied on the liquor interests for enormous sums of money, and that such antagonism as they are reported to have against the governor, and the auditor are not because they now claim to favor temperance laws, but because they took enormous sums of saloon money to clinch their power upon their state and party and then betrayed the men by whose help alone they obtained that power."

Saved by Republicans.
"When the compromise bill was reported, Senator Cox, Republican, moved the substitution of the Cammack bill, and the Democratic majority voted that substitute down against the united Republican vote, and the compromise bill was voted against by more Democrats than had voted for it, and would not have passed had it not been saved by Republican votes. In all that struggle not a word was said nor an act done by the governor nor auditor to help pass it."

"Senator Farris, the father of temperance legislation, in a letter to the Rev. M. B. Adams, head of the Anti-Saloon league, October 1, 1906, reminded Dr. Adams that if he had the assistance of the governor for his county unit bill in 1902 and 1904 it would have passed, and asked Dr. Adams how it was that he refused to pray for the legislature when Governor Beckham was presiding officer of the senate, and afterward came to herald Governor Beckham as the apostle of temperance."

Beckham Was Against It.
"Senator Farris stated that in 1898, when Governor Beckham was speaker of the house, the Rev. Dr. Kerfoot, former head of the Anti-Saloon league, sent him a denunciation of Governor Beckham for opposing the bill, and Senator Farris cited Dr. Kerfoot as a witness that Governor Beckham was against the county unit bill in 1898, and in 1902 and 1894 did nothing whatever toward assisting the passage of temperance measures, and that in 1906 Governor Beckham at no time assisted in or consented to the passage of the county unit bill, as originally drawn and presented, but opposed it until the four first-class cities were exempted, and the senator stated personally that as a matter of fact, Governor Beckham never consented to the bill at all, until after Senator Farris told him that his help would be a leverage whereby he (Governor Beckham) might defeat a certain man. And Senator Farris asked Dr. Adams to mention any message from the governor in which he advised the passage of any local option measure. In the same letter this Democratic senator said to Dr. Adams:

"You speak of the governor as being in all things temperate and sober. Do you know that he has not always been so? Do you know that his past until, at least very recently, if not all, has not been a guarantee of his future? Do you not know that in the past he has not led a life that could inspire much hope in the breasts of the temperance people?"

"Over six years ago he became governor, and not until this primary drew near did he think it proper to enforce the Sunday law. I took him six years to find that it was his duty to enforce the laws. Will he not return to his first love at any time his political exigencies may demand?"

Led Whisky Forces.
"Again, Mr. Inspector, State Chairman Hines, who has sent out over his signature the assertions that the Democratic party is against whisky, while Inspector in the pay of the state, and general political manager of the present Democratic campaign, went to Bowling Green with the knowledge of his superior officers, Governor Beckham and Auditor Hager, and led the whisky forces in their battle against local option. And these apostles of temperance, who not only dodged and straddled, have not disclaimed him from the position of Inspector, but, on the contrary, keep him in office and keep him as a leader in the campaign to carry Kentucky without any sign of any rebuke for his desperate work for the saloons in Bowling Green."

CONNED BOTH SIDES.
"Don't be alarmed about the State Journal's charges of bribery against the rectifiers, or at Governor Beckham's bid for an investigation. You are right; it might embarrass us, too, and Beckham and all of us know it. So you see outward looks don't count for much and the chief knows what he is doing. We will get money by this deal; keep the country people in line, and then we'll get the rectifiers and others back. The temperance bill was worked the same way. We all fought that bill, but when we saw one had to pass, and that passing the county unit bill, with all the big cities exempt, will satisfy the liquor people in the cities and the temperance folks in the country and safely put the whole matter out of politics, which is pretty smooth work for the leaders, we just delivered the goods to both sides."

The deceased had been ill for some time of stomach trouble, and was one of the most prominent jurists in St. Louis. He was brother-in-law of Mrs. D. G. Murrell, wife of the well known physician of this city, and leaves a wife, three sons and a daughter.

THE ROLLING CURE FOR FAT FOLKS

It's All the Goods, Says "Airy Fairy Lillian" Russell.

No Medicines, But Just Roll, Roll, Roll, If It's the Sydh-line "Figger You're After."

NOTHING COMPLICATED IN IT

New York, Sept. 14.—Lillian Russell's Sure Cure for Fat People is the latest flesh reducer, guaranteed to produce the nymph-like form by marvelous methods before unknown. All corpulent ladies with skinny aspirations will hail this preventive of plumpness with great joy, for after several applications the rotund figure disappears as if by magic. It cannot be bought at the stores, for it does not come in bottles, nor does it come in jars. No horrid stuff to swallow nor greasy cream to use, no rubber bands nor steel devices belong to this new obesity cure. Rich and poor, high and low, be they ever so fat, need not despair, for all may indulge in the new treatment, as it costs not a penny and can be taken right at home.

Back To Nature.
It's really awfully simple; no maid, nonsense or other usual adjuncts of the flesh discarding process. You go right back to nature, for the fair Lillian's latest method of treating troublesome fat merely consists in rolling around on the floor. It's the latest thing from Egypt, and all the swell nympho ladies always take a morning roll, for 'tis an old saying over there that "a roll in time saves a form divine." No gentle, graceful roll will do, for the victim of the new fad must roll good and long, hard and strong, to accomplish the longed-for hepatic appearance. All who have the necessary nerve can possess the necessary cure.

So all fat ladies and robust maidens join the Holy Rollers and shed rotund shapes. The beautiful Lillian, whose search for thinness has been long and unceasing, has introduced this method of flesh reducing to New York, and is most enthusiastic over the results. At a rehearsal of her new play, "Wildfire," the wonderfully preserved and ever youthful actress disclosed the secret of her lately acquired thinness.

Beats Athletics.
"Yes, I have discovered a new way of preserving my figure," she said while waiting for her cue. "It is just over from Egypt and is the quickest method of discarding unnecessary flesh I have ever tried—and I have tried everything that's going. There's tennis, golf, riding, boxing, massage and a dozen other things, that were useful in their way, but none of them can come up to rolling on the floor. The first thing in the morning I jump out of bed, don a sweater, get down on the floor and start to roll. It's pretty strenuous, but the results are wonderful. In three weeks I lost 17 pounds, and rolling did the work. Of course, you can't do it long, for it's a very exhausting exercise, but if regularly every morning you take a good roll you will soon fade away into a mere shadow."

"Of course I do other exercise, for any woman who desires to be thin must work strenuously to keep off the fat. Beauty is an exacting task, and the trouble with most women is that they are too lazy to stand the hard strain. The first minute it hurts a little bit or interferes with their pleasures the average member of silliness gives up her exercises and resigns herself to fat. But anyone can do this rolling stunt, and it certainly is amazing how soon your flesh disappears. If women would stop taking stuff which generally makes them sick they could become living skeletons if they so desired. To all fat ladies who want to be thin I say, Roll, roll, roll."

PRIVATE LIGHT PLANT FOR LIBRARY CONSIDERED.

A sub-committee was appointed by the Joint public improvement committee of the legislative boards last night to investigate the possibilities of a reduction of expense in lighting Carnegie library with gasoline by private plant before a motor electric light construction is made.

At a meeting of the Joint House committee from the legislative boards last evening, it was decided to recommend the granting of a coffee house license to Pat Lydon on Broad near Fourth street. Residents petitioned against the granting of a license at this place.

CHAPTER III.

THROUGHOUT the long summer day a gentle excitement had fluttered the hearts of those ladies, young or not so young, who had received invitations to the ball on board the Constellation that night. The last touches were given to the decorations which had been spent skill, taste and money. The three young women, being most tastefully and fashionably attired, were in high spirits, while state of feeling was exalted according to the nature of each. Sabina rather stately in her exaltation, Dorothy quiet and demure, while Katherine, despite her mother's supplications, would not be kept quiet, but swung her graceful gown this way and that, preening the style of a waltz and quoting W. S. Gilbert, as was her custom. She glided over the floor in rhythm with her chant:

"When I first put this on for you I said as I looked to the glass, 'Oh, how I love you!'"

My figure and form will surprise you."

Meanwhile in a room downstairs that good natured veteran Captain Kempf was telling the latest stories to his future son-in-law, a young officer of the American navy, who awaited with joyful impatience the advent of the service Sabina. When at last the ladies came down, the party set out through the gathering darkness of this heavenly summer night for the private room from which they were privileged to see the Constellation's official standing, to voyage to the cruise on the revenue cutter Whippoorwill, which was later on to convey the secretary of the navy and his entourage across the same intervening waters. Just before they reached the pier their steps were arrested by the boom of a cannon, followed instantly by the sudden apparition of the Constellation picked out in electric light, masts, funnels and hull all outlined by incandescent stars.

"How beautiful!" cried Sabina, whose young man stood beside her. "It is as if a giant rocket, all of one color, had burst and hung suspended there like the planets of heaven."

"It reminds me," whispered Katherine to Dorothy, "of an overgrown popcorn ball," at which remark the two girls were frivolous enough to laugh. "Cush!" sounded a cannon from an American ship, and then the white squadron became visible in a line of lightning. And now all the yachts and other craft on the waters flared their lines of fire, and the whole bay was illuminated like a lake in fairyland.

"Now," said Captain Kempf, with a chuckle, "watch the Britisher. I think she's going to show us some color." And as he spoke there appeared, speeding from mast to mast, a huge sheet of blue, with four great stars which pointed the corners of a parallel, and between the stars shone a huge white anchor. Cheers rang out from the crew of the Constellation and the band on board played "The Star Spangled Banner."

"That," said Captain Kempf in explanation, "is the flag of the United States secretary of the navy, who will be with us tonight. The visitors have kept very quiet about this bit of the moonlight, but our kids got on to the secret about a week ago, and I'll be very much disappointed if they don't give me fit for fit."

When the band on the Constellation ceased playing all lights went out on the American squadron, and then on the flagship appeared from mast to mast a device with the union jack in the corner, a great red cross dividing the flag into three white squares. As this illumination flashed on the American band struck up the British national anthem, and the outline lights appeared again.

"That," said the captain, "is the British naval war flag." The Whippoorwill speedily whisked the party and others across the sparkling waters to the foot of the grand stairway which had been specially constructed to conduct the elect from the tide to the deck. It was more than double as broad as the ordinary gangway, was carpeted from top to bottom, and on every step stood a blue-jacket, each as steady as if cast in bronze, the line forming, as one might say, a living handrail rising toward the dark sky. Captain Kempf and his wife went first, followed by Sabina and her young man, with the two girls in their wake.

was. The natural laughtiness of those classic features was somewhat modified by a pensive smile. Captain Kempf looked back over his shoulder and said in a low voice:

"Now, young ladies, best foot forward. The 1st Marine woman is to receive the Gibson girls."

"I know I shall laugh, and I fear I shall giggle," said Katherine, but she encountered a glance from her older sister quite as kindly as any Lady Angela might have bestowed, and all thought of merriment died for the moment. Thus the ordeal passed conventionally without Katherine either laughing or giggling.

Sabina and her young man fished away into the crowd. Captain Kempf was nodding to this one and that of his numerous acquaintances, and Katherine felt herself shrink a little closer to her as a girl, unknown young man deftly threaded his way among the people, making directly for the captain, whom he seized by the hand in a grasp of the most cordial friendship.

"Captain Kempf, I am delighted to meet you again. My name is Drummond. I remember you from the time I had the pleasure of being introduced to you at that dinner a week or two ago."

"The pleasure was mine, sir; the pleasure was mine," exclaimed the captain, with a cordially equal to that with which he had been greeted. He had not at first the least recollection of the young man, but the captain was something of an amateur politician and possessed all a politician's expertness in facing the unknown and making the most of any situation in which he found himself.

"Oh, yes, Lieutenant, I remember very well that excellent song you—" "Isn't it a perfect night?" gasped the lieutenant. "I think we are to be congratulated on our weather."

"I still cling to the captain's hand and shook it again so warmly that the captain said to himself: "I must have made an impression on this young fellow," then aloud he replied lamely:

"We always have good weather this time of year. You see, the United States government runs the weather. Didn't you know that? Yes, our weather, or in other words the best in the world."

The lieutenant laughed heartily, although a hollow note intervened, for the young man had got to the end of his conversation for a third time, yet did not know what more to say. The snarling of the politician came to his rescue in just the form the lieutenant had hoped.

"Lieutenant Drummond, allow me to introduce my wife to you." The lady bowed.

"And my daughter, Katherine, and Miss Amburst, a friend of ours—Lieutenant Drummond of the Constellation."

"I wonder," said the lieutenant, as if he thought had just occurred to him, "if the young ladies would like to go to a point where they can have a comprehensive view of the decorations. I-I may not be the best guide, but I am rather well acquainted with the ship, you know."

"Don't ask me," said Captain Kempf. "Ask the girls. Everything I've had in life has come to me because I asked, and if I didn't get it the first time I asked again."

BURTON ELECTED COMMANDER G. A. R.

At First Business Session of Encampment.

Membership June 30, 1906, Was 222,718—0,052 Members Have Died in Last 12 Months.

NUMBER OF POSTS NOW 5070

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Charles C. Burton, of Nevada Mo., was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The first business session of the forty-first annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic took place yesterday. The early hours of the session were devoted to the annual address and reports of Robert B. Brown, commander-in-chief; Joseph W. O'Neill, adjutant-general; William H. Armstrong, senior vice-commander-in-chief; Dr. W. H. Johnson, surgeon-general; Warren Lee Goss, patriot instructor, and other officers. The report of Adj. Gen. O'Neill was made public today. It shows that the membership of the Grand Army of the Republic on June 30, 1906, was 222,718 based on census from all but eight states—Georgia, Idaho, Indian Territory, New Mexico and North Dakota, from which no returns have been received. The highwater mark of members in the army was reached in 1895, when 409,489 were enrolled. Since that time death has rapidly depleted the ranks of the aged veterans and Gen. O'Neill's report shows that 9,052 members died in the last twelve months. The report shows that 6,506 old soldiers joined the G. A. R. during the year. The total number of posts in the army is now 5,070. Gen. O'Neill's report is for relief during the year.

Gen. O'Neill strongly recommends that the G. A. R. establish permanent headquarters instead of changing its home office each year as is now the practice. Gen. O'Neill in his report says:

"In my humble judgment, the time has come and now is, when permanent headquarters should be established. I can see no reason why our headquarters should, from year to year, be carted around over the country, incurring freight bills and damaging what little furniture we have and without any compensating results. I know of no other society or organization that constantly changes its home office, and I can think of no good reason why we should."

"Another great mistake is the annual change of the adjutant-general. I care not how competent nor how wide the acquaintance of the appointee, he comes into the office wholly unacquainted with conditions. He must become acquainted with his correspondents, the heads of departments and learn what to expect and from whom to expect it. This requires time, and the time he learns these things he must go out of office and some other comrade take up the work de novo. The Grand Army of the Republic should be a continuing and not a constantly changing institution."

"How much for a bed for the night?" I asked. "Twenty-five cents for the night," he answered. "The next morning, just about dawn, I felt some one shaking me by the arm, and when I awakened my Hebrew friend was standing over me. 'What do you want?' I asked. 'I want a ladder twenty-five cents,' said he. 'But I paid you for my bed last night, and want to sleep.' ## REFUSES MILLIONS; LIVES WITH HOBOES

James E. How Lives With Tramps in New York.

Refuses to Touch Fortune Left Him By His Father Because He Did Not Earn It.

LABORS TO AID THE NEEDY

New York, Sept. 11.—James Eads How, the young St. Louis reformer and heir to $1,000,000, who refused to touch a penny of it because he had not earned it, is in New York as an agent of the charitable organization to which he turned over his fortune for the betterment of indigent men and especially of professional tramps. He also will deliver lectures at the meetings of the Brotherhood Welfare society, a branch of the organization he started in St. Louis several years ago, and aims to extend to all the large cities in the United States.

Mr. How is the son of the late James F. How, vice-president and general manager of the Wabash railroad, and grandson of the great civil engineer, James Buchanan Eads, who built the St. Louis bridge, the first marvelous network of steel thrown across the Mississippi river, and later achieved still greater fame by constructing the jetties in the river below New Orleans.

Mr. How is a graduate of Harvard University and studied in Oxford. He is not yet 30 years of age, is of medium height, with pronounced features and expressive gray eyes.

Will Live With Hoboes.

He wears a rather closely cut beard, because barbers are expensive, and he has elected to live among the hoboies as the help lives. His clothing, though neat, is plain, almost to shabbiness.

His food consists of simple bread and butter, potatoes, coffee and occasionally a vegetable. He never eats meat, in the belief that a vegetable diet is more conducive to health and a spiritual life, and, besides, the tramp is seldom able to get a lamb chop or a porterhouse steak, and Mr. How is studying the tramp question from the viewpoint of a tramp.

He has ridden on tracks, gone hungry in both camps and worked as a laborer on railroads.

Though his charities are general, his interest is centered in the hobo. In his lectures he expects to teach tramps their rights as citizens, why they should have an aim in life, and how to become useful to the world and make the world useful to them.

When in New York Mr. How sleeps at the Mills hotel. To a reporter he expressed his reason for giving up wealth and social position to live among the poor.

"Believes in Brotherhood. 'You must live the life of these people, live among them, to get at the root of their troubles,' he said. 'be one of them, a brother. I believe in the actual, practical brotherhood of man.'

"Do you believe one of these men cast into the sea of despair who has fallen from grace is going to contribute his real troubles to a fellow in patent leather shoes and a hundred-dollar suit of clothes?"

"On the other hand, do you think such a man could truly comprehend the tramp's condition or even sympathize with it? No. The outcast would merely grow more bitter at the injustices of life, draw comparisons, and the gilded youth would throw him a few cents and leave him to his fate."

"The tramp is more what he is because he has no aim in life. He is down and can't get up, and he slugs so fast that no one will help him; no one will lend him a dollar. How can he get out of such a hole? But he can be redeemed."

"I have organized relief stations."

and I intend to organize more where the outcast can get sufficient to start on and obtain a position, the money to be paid back in time. My aim is to teach him that he is a useful citizen and that his duty is to organize, for only by organization can the working man gain power and through power obtain his rights. He can't get them by begging for them.

"I believe, not in waging war and battle, but in being so strong that capital must listen. I would protect these men from themselves, for if this terrible injustice of creating fortunes as they are created today continues it can result only in a revolution. We have had examples of it, and history repeats itself."

RIVALRY AMONG POSTMASTERS. Various Congressional Districts Are Striving To Send Largest Delegation. Quite a rivalry has developed among the postmasters of the various congressional districts of the state, as to which will make the best showing at the postmasters' convention on the occasion of the visit of the departmental officials. Two or three districts already report solid delegations; that is, all presidential postmasters in the respective districts have become members, and have signed their intention of being present. Indications are that quite a number of others will do likewise. The prospects are very flattering for a most successful meeting. In addition to the departmental officials who have promised to be present, Mr. C. W. Moss, Secretary of the civil service commission, with headquarters at Cincinnati, has been detailed to visit the association and make an address.

Secretary Coons Resigns Position Here to Go to Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. D. W. Coons, secretary of the Commercial club, has tendered his resignation, effective September 28th. He has accepted the agency for two chemical concerns to represent them at Los Angeles and will leave the first of the month to make that city his home.

President Harry Rhodes of the Commercial club, has had the resignation since the first of the month but only gave it out for publication today. He has called for a meeting of the directors Tuesday night to take action on the resignation.

When seen today by a Sun representative, Mr. Coons said, "I am very sorry to leave Paducah as I have come to think very much of it and its people, and have great confidence in its future. However, I have had several tempting offers elsewhere which I could not very well pass up, and hence shall leave. I shall always have a warm spot in my heart for the city and a half, and during that time has other parts of the city, but it was and shall always keep in touch with it as I expect to see my judgment of it verified.

Mr. Rhodes' Tribute.

"We lose a very valuable man when Mr. Coons leaves us and I deeply regret to see him leave. He is energetic, tireless and a resourceful worker and has given us the best of his talents. In my position, I can appreciate the work he has done. In touch with all the big men in the country in the railroads that are putting eager glances at Paducah, Mr. Coons has done effective work to interest them, and while we cannot predict for a certainty, we believe due to his work, Paducah will soon see two and possibly three roads here. Just at this time, under the circumstances, his resignation is to be regretted."

Mr. Coons has been secretary of the Commercial club for two years and has cut the balloon fruit from done some of the most effective advertising a small city has ever received. He has always taken a great interest in the transportation work and is staying on a little later than he wished to handle the convention this month.

Mr. Rhodes did not know what the club would do for a secretary and that matter will be decided at the meeting next week.

The airship made an ascent September 2 in a strong northwesterly wind, which drove her southeastward over the land. It was found that recovered after two days' search. Mr. Wellman says he will make another attempt with a new airship in 1915.

NEGRO ATTEMPTS ASSAULT ON A YOUNG LADY

A few heavy-set negro in shirt sleeves grabbed Miss Ella Burton at 1158 Broadway, Thursday night about 11 o'clock as she was entering her gate after reaching from a car with Miss Hoots. The negro, catching her by the wrist, she jerked free and ran into the house, her companion following. After looking the door she went to their room and started to retire, when the negro's face appeared at the window. They screamed and pedestrians were attracted. The negro was seen to leap over the back fence and escape.
